"Our FACE TO FACE surgeons volunteer their time and effort to help victims of domestic violence who have suffered facial trauma. It is our hope that by helping improve the visible evidence of the suffering these domestic violence survivors have endured, we can help them heal and return to their families and communities."

~Manoj T. Abraham, M.D. – Chair of FACE TO FACE

"Domestic violence is the leading cause of injury to women in the US. FACE TO FACE empowers individuals to overcome the physical limitations placed on them by circumstances beyond their control and continues to set precedent in the medical community as the first surgical group to take a stand with its landmark humanitarian initiative."

~FRED FEDOK, M.D. – President of AAFPRS

FACE TO FACE

In the early 1990s, the FACE TO FACE humanitarian program was established by the Educational and Research Foundation for the American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery (AAFPRS Foundation) so that AAFPRS members could volunteer to use their skills and share their talent in helping less fortunate individuals in need, both here in the United States and abroad. There are three arms to the Foundation's FACE TO FACE Program: FACE TO FACE: International, FACE TO FACE: The National Domestic Violence Project and FACES OF HONOR.
